Technology Related Articles

A good technician follows trends that take place in the industry on a daily basis. It is important, especially in the technology field, to follow new offerings or reviews of emerging technology related products or services since they change frequently. Staying on top of the newest technology is the difference between a technician and a cutting edge technology service provider.

You will be responsible for finding an article relating to technology on the Internet every 3 weeks. You are to print out the articles, and create a one page opinionated summary based on the article.

Ask yourself the following questions while reading the article:

- Do you agree with the author?
- Do you find the topic interesting?
- Does the article leave you with additional questions to find out more about the topic?
- Would you be interested in purchasing the item if the article is about a technology device or software?

Each article assignment should include:

- An attached copy of the article
- Site references within the article and at the end of the summary
- State your name, date and title your summary at the top of the page accordingly
- Create a one page, double spaced, 12pt font opinionated summary of the article (I want to know your thoughts about the subject)

Grading will be as followings:

Copy of the article attached	1 points
Site References	2 points
Title, name, date	2 points
Page Layout and setup	2 points
Summary	8 points
Total	15 points
